A Workshop Towards
CHANGE & HEALING

We are living in intense times that contribute towards discord and dysfunction. You may find yourself on a journey not of your own choosing and, often during these times, you could stumble upon a place called uncertainty.

Uncertainty is a place of being stuck at a crossroad, not knowing which direction to take that will produce the results you desire.

It's possible that you have made some decisions that have resulted in negative consequences and the solutions seem questionable.

No matter the contributing factors to where you are today, CHANGE is still possible, and HEALING is still attainable! Come learn how to shift your course in life, and start on your journey to build yourself up and get on the path of healing.
